Exam Stress: You Are Not Alone

Many teenagers feel nervous before exams. A little stress can be useful because it helps you focus. However, too much stress can cause headaches, sleeping problems and loss of appetite. School counsellors say the main causes are high expectations, comparing yourself with others and leaving everything to the last minute.

So, what can you do? First, make a realistic study plan and take short breaks. Second, sleep at least eight hours, because a tired brain can't remember well. Finally, talk to someone you trust. Sharing your worries makes them smaller.

a) How can a little stress be useful? (4 p)

b) Write two effects of too much stress. (3 p)

c) Ece studies all night before every exam, and then she forgets the answers. Which piece of advice should she follow? Explain why, using the text. (6 p)

d) What does "Sharing your worries makes them smaller" mean? (7 p)

Read the welcome text of Çamlıtepe Boarding High School. Then write a similar welcome text (about 70–80 words) for your school. Use the same four headings: Who we are – A normal day – Rules – Special days.

Welcome to Çamlıtepe Boarding High School!

Who we are

A boarding school for 14–18-year-olds near a lake. 300 students from 40 cities live and study here.

A normal day

Lessons start at 8.30 and finish at 15.00. After lessons, students join clubs like sailing and robotics.

Rules

Students have to clean their rooms every morning. Phones are collected at 22.00.

Special days

On 29 October, we celebrate Republic Day with a big concert by the lake.

Write your welcome text. (15 p)
