Read Ayb ke's description of her dream house. Then write about your dream house (about 60–70 words). Follow her order: type of house and location – floors and rooms – favourite room, furniture and reason – what you do there.

MY DREAM HOUSE · by Ayb ke

My dream house is a wooden cottage near the sea. It has two floors. Downstairs, there is a big living room with a fireplace and a kitchen. Upstairs, there are two bedrooms and a small library. My favourite room is the library because it has soft armchairs and lots of books. In the evenings, I read there and listen to the waves.

Write your text.

Exam Stress: You Are Not Alone

Many teenagers feel nervous before exams. A little stress can be useful because it helps you focus. However, too much stress can cause headaches, sleeping problems and loss of appetite. School counsellors say the main causes are high expectations, comparing yourself with others and leaving everything to the last minute.

So, what can you do? First, make a realistic study plan and take short breaks. Second, sleep at least eight hours, because a tired brain can't remember well. Finally, talk to someone you trust. Sharing your worries makes them smaller.

a) How can a little stress be useful? (4 p)

b) Write two effects of too much stress. (4 p)

c) Ece studies all night before every exam, and then she forgets the answers. Which piece of advice should she follow? Explain why, using the text. (8 p)

d) What does "Sharing your worries makes them smaller" mean? (9 p)
