Örnek cevap: In my opinion, regular school is better for teenagers than online school. First of all, students meet their friends every day, so they learn how to work in a team and solve problems together. Secondly, at a regular school, students can join extracurricular activities like sports, music and drama. Online school has flexible hours, and this is useful for some students. However, sitting in front of a screen all day can be lonely and tiring. For these reasons, I think teenagers should go to regular schools.
